'Most Canadians Can't Afford Cars'

TORONTO (BUP) — Premier Leslie Frost blamed the automobile industry for its own employment difficulties yesterday.

In a briefing to newsmen on the provincial budget brought down yesterday, he said that cars had been made "fancy" and costly. He said the industry was pricing Canadian cars out of the reach of most Canadians.

Frost said the auto industry in 1955 had started on a splurge of overproduction and events were catching up with them.

Public or Private Development?

Columbia Power Inaction Strengthening B.C.'s Hand

Downstream Benefits First Issue—Bennett

Decision as to whether public or private power organizations get the green light for hydro development of the Columbia River will not be made known until international agreements over downstream benefits have been settled, Premier Bennett told the legislature last night.

In a power policy statement he said:

1. B.C. will get "more than" 50 per cent of downstream benefits from the Columbia development. Previously he had said B.C. would get 20 per cent downstream benefits and that the U.S. would pay for the dams.

NEW AGENCY?

2. If public power is given the job, the B.C. Power Commission might not do the work, but a new agency, the Columbia Power Authority, could be set up.

3. The former Liberal government's offer to share in the cost of Columbia development with the province was "110 per cent politics."

4. If the 4,000,000-horsepower Wenner-Gren power development in the Rocky Mountain Trench area goes ahead "we will have the most powerful lever for the satisfactory settlement of downstream benefits on the Columbia."

NO TALKS

5. The present Conservative government in Ottawa is "worse than the Liberals" in that no talks between Canada and the U.S. on downstream benefits have been held since last June's federal election.

6. The government still holds the $250,000 deposit from Kaiser for the proposed dam at Castlegar.

Premier Bennett made his statements after being questioned on the government's power policy by Randolph Harding (CCF, Kaslo-Slocan).

VALUABLE SECRET

The premier said the province would give up its bargaining power if it made a deal with the federal government for Columbia development or even said whether public or private concerns would do the job before the downstream benefit question was settled.

"People in this province know we have been fair to public power. We've done in public power in one year than all the years of the Liberals and Conservatives together," he said.

The government believed in the development of the most power possible, he said—"some will be public power . . . some will be private power."

DIDN'T ASK

Reason for the retaining of the $250,000 deposit from Kaiser—whose proposed dam was killed by the federal government—was that Kaiser had never asked for it back, said the premier.

Mr. Harding urged that the government return the deposit immediately. "I would feel a lot safer," he said.

CCF POLICY

CCF policy on power, Mr. Harding said, called for the stressing of public power development and establishment of a B.C. Hydro Corporation; development of hydro power on a larger scale, with the Columbia first; no sale of power to the U.S. except on a reciprocal basis; negotiations over downstream benefits should be settled at a very early date; all downstream benefits must return in power, not cash; there should be federal-provincial co-operation on B.C. power developments; and the B.C. Power Commission should develop power on all river systems.

For Quebec

Cabinet Posts Hinted

RIMOUSKI, Que. (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker Wednesday night dropped an indirect hint that he will increase Quebec's representation in the federal cabinet if his Progressive Conservative government is re-elected with strong Quebec support.

"You have it in your power—and I know that you understand me well when I say this—to surround me with the talented lieutenants I need to direct the destinies of our country," he told an audience of more than 1,200 here.

SEND BIG GROUP

Quebec should be able to speak with a strong voice in the Commons.

"You must send a large group of Conservative members to the Parliament of the nation.

"Whoever is at the helm needs the co-operation of numerous associates and I hope that the province of Quebec will participate actively in the administration of our country."

APPARENT REPLY

The Conservative leader's statements were an apparent reply to political criticisms that in forming his government after last year's election he named no more than three cabinet ministers from among the nine Quebec Conservatives elected.

Of six constituencies along the river's south shore in this area, Conservatives last year captured two by narrow margins from the Liberals and came within 743 votes of winning a third.

Mr. Diefenbaker received the backing Wednesday night of Quebec Fisheries Minister Camille Pouliot, legislature member of Gaspe South.

Went to Help Out

Mother Finds Own Child Crash Victim

A Victoria mother who rushed to an accident near her home yesterday to offer help to anyone hurt in the crash found her own 2½-year-old daughter lying seriously injured on the sidewalk—one of two victims.

Ruby Arlene Lennox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Lennox, 1923 Belmont, was rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital with concussion, multiple bruises, abrasions and a fractured, dislocated elbow. Her condition was described as good last night.

"I was so surprised to see my daughter lying there I couldn't speak," Mrs. Lennox said last night. "She didn't recognize me!"

Also injured in the accident was Mrs. Mary Todd, 70, of 906 St. Charles, driver of the car which struck the child. She suffered abrasions to the right arm, and shock.

FREAK ACCIDENT

Freak accident happened at the corner of Belmont and Gladstone about 4.30 p.m. The car driven by Mrs. Todd collided with a truck driven by Jack Leonard Robinson, 1319 Vimy, at the corner, careened onto the sidewalk and struck the child.

Before it stopped, the car sideswiped a tree and rolled over a two-foot drop into a vacant lot.

DEFENCE MINISTER GEORGE PEARKES

Nuclear Patrol Denied

OTTAWA (BUP) — Defence Minister George Pearkes last night labelled as "incorrect" a report that American planes carrying nuclear warheads patrol Canadian skies on a 24-hour basis.

"Only in situations of immediate danger and grave emergency would air defence aircraft armed with nuclear weapons fly over Canadian territory under present Canada-U.S.A. agreements," he declared.

RANGE AFAR

The report attributed to a United States Air Force officer, said B-47 and B-52 bombers range as far north as the sub-Arctic and supersonic jet fighters operate from Air Defence Command bases fringing the International Border.

It also stated that the Royal Canadian air force is playing an important part in the operation. The RCAF is linked with the USAF in Norad (North American Air Defence).

Prince George Tragedy

Two B.C. Men Near Death Following Double Shooting

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP) — Two Prince George men were near death late Wednesday after a double shooting earlier in the business district of this north-central British Columbia centre.

R. Lorne McCuish, partner in an insurance adjusting company, was shot in the stomach with a 12-gauge shotgun, wielded by a man who invaded his private business office.

Five minutes later, on the street eight blocks away, Herbert L. Clark apparently fired a bullet from a .38-calibre revolver into his own head.

Late Wednesday hospital authorities reported McCuish was in critical condition after a two-hour operation. Clark, they said, was only "hanging on," with slim prospects of surviving.

Both men were believed to be about 35 years of age. McCuish, who had lived in this city for at least four years, is married and the father of three small children.

POSSIBLE MOTIVE

Clark was employed in a chartered accountant's office next door to the McCuish and Barton Insurance Company, police said. They would not speculate on a possible motive for the first shooting, nor would they say positively that the two shootings were related.

A shotgun, however, was found in the car from which Clark stepped out before he was shot.

PRIVATE CUBICLE

Glenn Barton, partner in the insurance adjustment business, was in the outer office when a "stranger" rushed through and into the private cubicle occupied by McCuish.

He did not see the shooting but heard his partner exlaim: "God, oh my God" after being shot as he sat at his desk.

B. and K. Left Off Ike's Guest List

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said yesterday his proposal to have influential Russians visit the United States did not include Communist party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev and Soviet premier Nikolai A. Bulganin.

Eisenhower told a news conference that he was thinking in terms of Russian "leaders of thought" rather than "the people carrying official responsibility."

He said a U.S. visit by top Soviet officials might be construed as a Big Two summit meeting. He indicated he did not want to give this country's allies any grounds for suspicion that this country was dealing with Russia behind their backs.

The president proposed the invitation to Russian leaders in his last letter to Bulganin. He said many Russians were heaping criticism on the United States without knowing what it really was like.

Newsmen asked state department spokesman Lincoln White to identify some influential leaders of thought in Russia not connected with the government. White said he assumed that was "something for the Soviets themselves to determine."

Bill of Rights Canada's Need

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) — Mr. Justice Harry J. Sullivan said here Tuesday night that Canadians need a bill of rights to protect them from boards and bureaus with powers capable of overshadowing those of the courts.

Humane Harpooning Urged

'Untold Suffering'

Humane harpooning of whales was called for last night by the Victoria Branch of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals at its annual meeting.

Mrs. Carol Playfair stated that harpoons with charges that explode in the intestines of a whale cause "untold suffering" before the animal dies. An electric harpoon is regarded as more humane.

The resolution called upon the provincial organization of the society to take action.

William Leach, who was re-elected president of the branch, reported that the legacy fund of the branch might be sufficient to build a new animal shelter in 1959.

A "large sum" of money was expected to be received in a legacy soon, Mr. Leach added.

The branch endorsed unanimously the action of the branch board of directors in entering into pound agreements with Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt.

In his report for 1957, Mr. Leach noted that the branch had brought charges of cruelty to animals against three persons during the year and won convictions in each case.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

IT is traditional for Victoria and Vancouver people to sneer at one another.

The hate-Vancouver club may string me up from a hanging flower-basket for this, but I'll have to confess it. I like Vancouver.

Vancouver is only five times as large as Victoria in actual size, but it is a world bigger in spirit.

You can feel the difference as soon as you step ashore. Victoria is static. Vancouver is dynamic. In Vancouver you know there are wheels turning, factories making goods to send all over the globe, deep-sea ships loading along miles of waterfront, trains rolling on their way to cities across the continent.

Vancouver's beauty is bold and large. The charm of Victoria is elusive, timid and scattered. To see any sizable part of Victoria, you have to climb a hill or a tree or a high building. But Vancouver was designed for spectacular display.

Travelling at random about Vancouver, you have a good chance of finding yourself on a height of land that allows you a view of half the city in a great bowl or stadium, sweeping down from the snowy rim of the mountains to the harbor and up again.

* * *

Victoria does not have the vivid emotional contrasts that are so plentiful in Vancouver: Ships, cars and buses, running near each other for miles; crowded sidewalks and white mountains; rubby-dubs, cranks, drug pushers, young executives and sharp, sweet girls in thousands; flophouses and millionaires' nests.

I lived in Vancouver for most of three years. Every time I revisit the town, some landmark has vanished and some new tower of glass has grown up in its place.

A bomb, or even a group of small boys with stones, could wreak terrible damage in downtown Vancouver, because Vancouver is rapidly becoming a city of glass.

At one time I used to feel sad about the changes, but they don't bother me now. Change and rapid growth is a normal feature of Vancouver, and I don't expect to find things the same now, any more than I expect the Fraser River to stand still.

Denizens of Vancouver accept change as part of their daily lives.

* * *

But many quaint, crotchety and unwashed corners of Vancouver still exist among the walls of glass.

Wizened old houses with faded paint stand next door to big office blocks. The ground under them is worth a fortune. But Vancouver, like a big girl who still takes her beaten-up teddy bear to bed, keeps the old houses for a while.

The door of the Royal Canadian Navy's recruiting office says "Walk in." But halfway up the door there is a brass knocker, dating probably from the time when the recruiting office was a more formal place. Nobody has polished the knocker for months.

Just off Granville one sees a glum-looking man from the city sanitation department, pushing a small orange-colored handcart with brooms in it.

He stops for a rest, spits lustily on the sidewalk and glares all around, as though proclaiming his right to spit anywhere he wants and defying all comers to stop him.

Duck Frozen, Inspected, Saved, Thawed

In trouble and out again is story told by sequence of photos of a duck frozen in the ice on Toronto waterfront. Duck was frozen in solid, then along came an inquisitive dog, and, finally Inspector Wilfred Patey of the Humane Society, who freed the duck. All was well after a thawing out.—(CP)

Bennett Accusation

'Funds Short'

Charge that a $5,000,000 shortage in provincial sinking funds existed when Social Credit took office in August, 1952, was levelled in the legislature by Premier Bennett last night.

Opposition members immediately demanded that the premier file a statement in the House proving the shortage.

He finally agreed to file a statement as of March 4, 1952, but not in August of that year—the date when Social Credit officially took over from the Coalition government.

Former Liberal premier Byron Johnson was finance minister in 1952.

Premier Bennett said yesterday officials in the finance department advised him when he took office that there was a $5,000,000 shortage in the sinking funds—money put aside for debt reduction.

"Prior to (Herbert) Anscomb taking over they were a lot shorter than that," he said. Mr. Anscomb, former Conservative leader and finance minister in the Coalition government, was succeeded by Mr. Johnson.

Liberal financial critic P. A. Gibbs of Oak Bay said it was "reprehensible" that the premier should make such a statement and fail to back it up with proof. He demanded that a statement be filed with the legislature.

'I'll Create Oil Market'

EDMONTON (CP)—Liberal leader Lester Pearson said last night that if he becomes prime minister he will create a market at Montreal for Canadian oil if the U.S. continues to restrict oil imports from Canada.

He said also he would make sure that Canadians did not pay a higher price for oil and natural gas than prices charged to American consumers.

Mr. Pearson said he believes Russia wants to hold a summit meeting "for propaganda purposes" and argued that there should be diplomatic negotiations "in the valley" before the leaders meet at the heights.

* * *

PORT COLBORNE, Ont. (CP)—Trade Minister Churchill said Tuesday night that recent cuts in United States trade with Canada are the result of a program of planned economy in that country and not of any action by the Progressive Conservative government.

* * *

MONCTON (CP) — External Affairs Minister Smith said Wednesday the Progressive Conservative government will see that Canada retains full control of her political and economic destiny under the terms of the joint Canada-United States air defence agreement.

At Sackville, N.B., Mr. Smith called the Liberal "Pearson for Peace" campaign slogan "a phony issue."

"No man alone can bring peace to this troubled world," he said.

* * *

VIKING, Alta. (CP)—Social Credit Leader Solon Low said Wednesday the Progressive Conservatives "turned their backs" on the western farmer after promising they would give him a fair deal.

* * *

CHILLIWACK (BUP)—Deputy CCF leader Stanley Knowles predicted last night that the Conservatives "will sit back and take it easy" if they gain a clear majority in the March 31 general election.

He said the only time Liberal or Conservative governments have had any "respect" for Parliament has been when they had a small majority or none at all and had to present good legislation to stay in power.

OTTAWA (BUP)—The Conservative party, even with the help of Premier Duplessis' powerful political machine, will not make any worthwhile inroads into Liberal strength in Quebec, according to a Liberal party statement issued last night.

First Land Victory

Rebels Repulsed In Indonesia By Loyal Forces

SINGAPORE (UP) — The Jakarta government claimed its first land victory against the rebels in Indonesia yesterday.

A central government communique issued in Jakarta said the Indonesian troops had "reoccupied" the town of Gorontalo in the heart of North Celebes. The North Celebes military commander has declared support for the rebel government in Central Sumatra.

Fifteen Dutch families passed through the rebel stronghold of Padang yesterday, fleeing north from the huge Kaju tea plantation 175 miles to the south.

They said that when they left, 4,000 Communist-led plantation workers originally from the island of Java were spoiling for a clash with Sumatran troops.

READY TO FLEE

There were these other developments in the island revolution:

The Indonesian Antara News Agency reported the central Sumatran rebels "apparently" were making preparations to flee to Singapore.

The Jakarta government labeled as "an act of piracy" the capture by a Dutch warship of a freighter being operated by the Indonesians. The freighter was expropriated originally from the Dutch KPM line.

Antara reported that the Jakarta government yesterday exempted Dutch-owned banks from a general decree ordering the take-over of all Dutch properties in Indonesia. The new ruling said the Dutch banks were needed to smooth out the Indonesian finances.

An Indonesian air force plane flew over Padang and the air raid sirens were sounded but there was no attack.

HEAD FOR PORT

The Dutch families passing through Padang said they were headed for Medan, the chief seaport of North Sumatra. They had travelled from the Kaju plantation in a car and truck caravan.

The Dutch said workers on the plantation were members of the Communist Sobsi union and were ready to start trouble.

Storms Whip Britain

LONDON (Reuters)—Shivering Britons floundered through waist-high drifts yesterday as one of the worst winter storms in 40 years spread havoc throughout the country.

Scores of towns and villages were isolated by snowdrifts up to 15 feet deep as the storm continued into its third day. Some communities were reported running short of food as snow-clearing equipment battles to reach them through the drift-clogged roads.

Motoring organizations reported "chaos everywhere" with more than 100 main roads blocked and thousands of cars abandoned. Trains were hopelessly behind schedule, some arriving as much as 11 hours late in London on runs from Scotland.

Hundreds of children slept in their schools when their buses were unable to get through to take them home.

Telephone and power lines were wrenched down and a 92-year-old woman was killed near Dover when wind sent the chimney of her home crashing down through the roof.

Gales whipped the English Channel yesterday and storms off England's southeast coast were described as the worst in memory. Pounding seas blasted huge holes in concrete sea walls.

In Tunisia, remaining French garrisons are surrounded by hostile, armed populace following recent air attack on Tunisian village when many civilians were killed, French troops were ordered to leave Tunisia. Here a French unit at one of the desert outposts is being inspected by Gen. Fernand Gambiez, commander-in-chief in Tunisia. —(CPC)

Major 'Errors' Listed

Pineau Blasts U.S.

PARIS (AP)—A sweeping attack by Foreign Minister Christian Pineau on American policy in the Arab world was seen yesterday as additional evidence that France will not be pushed into any compromise with Tunisia.

The French Parliament's upper house, after hearing Pineau's attack on U.S. actions, voted 271 to 14 for a resolution that "resumption of normal relations with Tunisia should have nothing to do with the Algerian sedition." The Communists were the only opponents.

Pineau's attack was the sharpest blast at the U.S. from a high French official in a long time.

Pineau said the U.S. government has erred in (1) its sponsorship of the Baghdad Pact, (2) halting the British-French invasion of the Suez, (3) proposing the Eisenhower plan of aid to Middle East countries to combat Communist aggression, and (4) its North African policy —particularly the token arms shipment Britain and the U.S. sent to Tunisia last November.

He added that the French government had warned against each of these steps.

The foreign minister told the Senate France could not refuse the British-American offer of good offices because the United Nations charter provides for such a procedure. But he then stressed that "we have a right to draw limits to the discussions."

Planes Misused, France Warned

WASHINGTON (UP) — The United States has given France a blunt warning against using any more planes or weapons supplied under the military aid program on Tunisian targets, it was disclosed yesterday.

At the same time Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D., Ark.), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, called for the withdrawal of the planes from France "if they can be."

The use of American-made planes in a bloody Feb. 8 attack on the Tunisian border town of Sakiet-Sidi-Youssef is expected to be brought up by the committee in hearings slated to start next month.

The U.S. government, informants said, has informed the French it does not agree with the Paris argument that American-built planes, used in the raid, fell under terms of the Jan. 27, 1950, American-French arms aid agreement.

Under the agreement, France promised to devote American arms aid to no other purpose than NATO defence.

Notorious Test To Be Dropped

CANBERRA (Reuters)—Australia moved yesterday to abolish its notorious dictation test, used for nearly 60 years to keep out unwanted aliens.

Its notoriety results from the fact that it enables the immigration department to submit an alien to a test in any European language it desires — whether the newcomer speaks it or not. For example, an unwanted Englishman might be handed a printed document in, say, Bulgarian. Unable to read it, he would be barred from entry on grounds of "educational inability."

The government announced Tuesday that Parliament will be asked to abolish the test under proposed new immigration laws.

Only once has the dictation test failed to keep out an unwanted alien, when the government decided that a Czecho-slovak novelist was an undesirable immigrant. Unfortunately for the immigration department, he was also a linguist. Test after test in European languages failed to stump him.

The department eventually defeated the writer with a dictation test in Gaelic. But victory was short-lived. The immigrant appealed to the High Court, which ruled that Gaelic was not a European language within the meaning of the act.

Drop in Standards Feared

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. C. M. Whitworth, president of the B.C. College of Dental Surgeons, said Tuesday proposed changes in B.C. legislation affecting dental technicians could result in reduced public protection and debased dental health standards.

Dr. Whitworth said the bill introduced in the legislature Tuesday "shows features that have been previously tried with disastrous results in other countries."

He said the bill, which would establish a board to decide to what extent dental technicians should be allowed to sell dentures to the public directly, would result in rapid falling off in the number of university-trained dentists in the province.

Independent dental technicians earlier welcomed the provincial government's move.

No Strike Date Set For Electricians

Preparations for a strike by 120 electrical workers here against the B.C. Electric and Hume & Rumble Ltd. continued yesterday.

Jack Driscoll, business agent for Local 230, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, conferred briefly with BCE vice-president E. W. Arnott to discuss picket policy and other matters in event of a strike.

However, no date for a walkout has been set, Mr. Driscoll said.

The Victoria local, along with Vancouver local 213 representing 1,200 men, have given legal notice of a strike "at any time" to back their demands in a current wage dispute.

The Deed or the Pledge?

MR. LESTER PEARSON, new national leader of the federal Liberals and a Canadian highly respected in his own right, received an attentive hearing in Victoria at the opening of his western tour. His remarks were pleasantly free from personalities and on the plane where argument is advanced with its reasons. The same in some measure, could be said for Mr. James Sinclair who spoke at the same rally. We regret that our concurrences end there, for neither at close range nor when viewed at a distance does the "new look" Liberalism stand up to impartial inspection.

Nine months ago, when the world recession which continues had been several months under way the Liberals in power were reporting a $600,000,000 tax surplus, tightening the credit squeeze, resisting all change in the fiscal program of the country and ignoring a galloping trade deficit between this country and the United States. Today their pledge is a $400,000,000 budget deficit, including an increase in social services, wholesale educational bursaries and a 25 per cent tax reduction in the lower income brackets. Is this hindsight in the face of the established facts, or a reversal of Liberal policies which were declared from every party seat in the Commons, when they were in absolute control? In short, is the performance in office or the promise being tardily offered now the bedrock of the Liberal case?

The electors have their own memories to guide them. If "scientific tax reduction" is the remedy now, why wasn't it applied when the recession started and trade wheels began to spin the other way? The Liberals were in power and knew what was happening in world commerce. Was any real effort made then to relieve Great Britain in its annual $400,000,000 adverse trade balance with Canada? When did the St. Laurent administration or any member of it say as much as "boo" to United States trade and other policies in sharpening conflict with our own? It is late in the day to promise a potlatch now, without reserves. The Liberals can scarcely expect to escape from that record, or their sharp reversal at the polls between one summer and a spring.

Can't Satisfy Everyone

AMENDMENTS to the Municipal Act introduced in the legislature this week mark this as the first government of B.C. to acknowledge that the municipalities in theory at least are better qualified to deal with local business hours than any set of province-wide regulations. The bill if it passes will restore some powers which they possessed before the act was rewritten a year ago and give others which they have not had since the out-dated Shops Regulation and Weekly Holiday Act was passed long ago.

Theory and practice are not necessarily compatible, however. While local councils may be in the best position to decide what restrictions if any are necessary, their broadened authority is not going to make life any easier for them. On the contrary, the transfer will impose a heavy burden of decision, and subject them to pressures which hitherto they could resist by falling back on the statutory limitations.

Being what may be called a tourist city, Victoria appears to be in for a rough ride when the amendments come into force and the local councils have to make up their own minds about closing bylaws. In the mercantile trade itself there are at least four opposing factions all commanding strong support; and to these must be added trades unions and consumers organizations. Opinions as to how retail business should be controlled range over so much territory that a Solomon might find himself baffled. To make matters more complex, a council's sympathies are liable to be influenced to some extent by its own composition in any particular year.

In municipal administration there never was a more vexed issue with a more perplexing assortment of views than that of store closing. No matter what a council may decide, it is bound to offend more people in the aggregate than it can satisfy if it ventures to set rules. That being so, would it not be better to relieve them of jurisdiction and, with the exception of the existing provincial limitation of Sunday trading, throw the whole thing wide open, letting the merchants run their own affairs?

When a local body is given statutory powers to use at its own discretion demands that they be invoked are certain to follow; and where both freedom and protection may be sought in the same breath the issue becomes too much for any local authority to adjudicate.

European Economic Community

IN an excellent review this month of the European Economic Community, the Bank of Montreal gives an objective analysis of the aims of the six-nation accord in Western Europe, under which trade policies are to be revised and a steady effort made towards the reduction of internal barriers affecting a broad regional accord. Notably internal tariffs within the community, manpower for use in industry and many existing controls on export and import movements will be affected. Externally the EEC may become an integrated trading area, developing its future assets by pooling some of its national prerogatives.

The effect, as the bank points out, may move forward on a progressive basis until, in between 12 to 15 years' time, the full benefits of an integrated regional economy have been brought to bear. Both then, and now, Canada and Western nations outside of the EEC may need to re-examine their own position with regard to overseas trade. One of the objectives of the plan is to lower prices internally in the region, establish working credits and generally to integrate industrial effort for the benefit of the Community as a whole. Imports into the area, which mean exports to nations such as Canada, almost certainly will be faced with a different set of conditions than pertains now.

Growing discussion of the plan together with the first steps taken at its commencement bear witness to the reality with which the EEC nations are setting about the improvement of their own affairs. There have been some former national prerogatives surrendered in the cause of a trading union, and this degree of give-and-take has begun to show in a material improvement in the political relationships between the six countries. If the 12-year trial meets the test, the EEC agreement has significant clauses for the widening of this concurrence on other fronts. The first obstacles have already been passed, and something approaching a union of minds bids fair to insure material progress on the scheme in the next few years.

Interpreting the News:

Troop Withdrawal Two-Edged

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

RED CHINA'S announced intention to withdraw all its troops from North Korea by the end of this year appears part of the concerted Communist plan to try to break up the western alliance.

The Communists have repeatedly proposed that all countries pull their forces out of foreign lands. Such a program would be of chief advantage, of course, to the Communists.

It could lead the United States, the West's main bulwark, to a return to the concept of "fortress America"—the new term for isolation—and bring about dissolution of the North Atlantic alliance.

One of the main purposes, if not the chief aim, of stationing forces abroad is to demonstrate forcefully to the recipient nation that it has the full support in the cold war of the donor country.

That's why Canada's 4th Infantry Brigade group is serving in West Germany. The presence of Canadian troops in Europe is the physical manifestation of Canada's belief in the defence of Western Europe against Soviet aggression.

Consequently, the Communists believe, probably with good reason, that if Western nations withdrew their troops from foreign countries the western alliance would break up.

There is also a good military reason for this Communist plan. It is equally applicable in Korea or Europe.

A withdrawal from North Korea would leave Chinese Communist troops sitting on the border of North Korea, but it would place the United States' two divisions now in South Korea in Okinawa, 500 miles away.

A withdrawal from Europe would leave Russian forces relatively close to Western Europe, but the United States' five divisions would have to return home, thousands of miles away overseas.

Red China's withdrawal from North Korea would not affect Canada as far as troops are concerned. This country's forces were pulled out of South Korea three years ago.

Communist China has made a smart propaganda move, despite the fact its forces should never have been in North Korea in the first place, and despite the fact it was branded an aggressor by the United Nations for entering the Korean War in late 1950.

But the United States is partly to blame for the Korean impasse. It was warned—by Canada, among others—that Red China would fight in Korea if U.S. forces approached the China-Korea border. That's what happened.

The 16 UN nations which had forces in Korea have held periodic meetings in Washington since outbreak of the Korean War to discuss events there. They likely will meet again soon to discuss Red China's latest move.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

UNDOUBTEDLY it will be an atavistic yearning that is responsible for the beards which sprout among us as prolifically as the weeds in our gardens. The pioneers of 100 years ago were swathed in hair, as the pictures of Sir James Douglas and Amor de Cosmos make amply clear. Only the wondering braves who gazed at these strange palefaces—their true color obscured by the hirsute camouflage—were clean of chin. You might say that civilization came to these parts with a beard.

It will be an unconscious longing to imitate their forebears, therefore, that prompts the centennial beards which threaten to engulf us. One cannot turn a corner these days without running into one's grandfather. This is the pioneer tradition par excellence, and in its celebration of 100 years of history B.C. seems determined above all to illustrate its beginnings. One may be excused the hope, however, that visitors do not conclude B.C. has remained statically unshaven ever since.

* * *

Yet the beard has always been held in high honor. It was a sign of manhood, even if Saladin's little son wept for terror when he saw a clean-shaven Crusader and Julius Caesar used a razor, perhaps because Cleopatra wouldn't have it otherwise. One must suppose that Victoria damosels are not so dominating as the lady of the Nile barge. They have no right to be, in any case. If nature preserves women from baldness, as public evidence would seem to suggest, it is a just distribution of favor that men should be able to grow beards. That no woman in her waking senses would want to grow one does not invalidate the equation.

Some of the efforts now on view, admittedly, raise doubt as to the wisdom of nature. Hair grows at the rate of half-an-inch a month, and the pictorial scene would be greatly enhanced if this rate could be accelerated. As with all jobs seen best when they are finished, it is the unfinished state of many beards that is discomforting. One hates to be unkind to devoted celebrants striving manfully to observe a historic occasion, but some of them would be well advised to go into seclusion until the full flowering of their whiskers was manifest. In embryo the resemblance to the caretaker's broom is apt to be too close for unrestrained admiration.

* * *

By mid-summer Victoria should be a sight for the gods if not for the visitors, however. One may confidently expect that the centennial motif will be carried out thoroughly, there being no good reason for half measures only. The kings of Persia plaited their beards with golden thread, and since gold is one of the B.C. centennial colors this is an example I commend to the bearded ones. A green dye, also, would complete the decor delightfully, nor should these bearded stalwarts shrink from such a final distinction. They can be heartened by remembrance that Adam, the primal man, was adorned with a beard, although unfortunately no contemporary portraits exist to illustrate its hue. It is only the personal and possibly prejudiced view of this writer that when the centenary is all over and chins are once more scraped clean the bearded celebrants may wish that, like Adam, they had lived before photography.

Reports from Ottawa

THE way George Hees tells it, a couple of years ago John Diefenbaker had an idea about how to preserve the peace in the Middle East, and eight months later a low variety of life cylept Lester Pearson up and swiped that idea and peddled it to the United Nations.

As a result of this blatant plagiarism, this Pearson person won the Nobel Peace Prize, worth 40,000-odd tax-free dollars, and credit for being a great peacemaker.

And what is he doing now? Running about the country claiming, if you please, that if people want peace in the world they'd better elect him prime minister instead of Diefenbaker, the man who had the idea in the first place!

Well, did Pearson ride to fame and fortune on the output of John's brain case? Is Diefenbaker the unrecognized father of the United Nations Emergency Force in the Middle East? The man who, Hees almost implies, should have received that Nobel prize?

Let's look at the record.

* * *

On Jan. 31, 1956, Diefenbaker said in the House of Commons that Paul Martin should use his influence at the UN "to see to it that something in the nature of an international force is established" to police the Arab-Israeli frontier.

Eight months later, on Nov. 3, Pearson produced a resolution in the UN for setting up such a force.

QED, Mr. Hees? That which was to be proven? But let's read on.

On Nov. 27, 1956, Pearson said in the Commons: "Of course there was nothing new in either this idea or in its proposal, and no one on this side of the House, I am sure, wants to take any credit for having put forward a novel and valuable proposal."

Pearson went on to point out that 10 years earlier Louis St. Laurent had tried, without success, to persuade the UN to set up a permanent military force to police the peace. Four years later came Korea, and the first UN police force, hurriedly created for the occasion, went into action. And, as Pearson told the Commons in 1956, Canada offered its brigade to the UN in those hectic summer days of 1950 not merely for service in Korea, but rather for general UN service "so that next time this kind of aggression takes place there will be forces in being to deal with it."

In his Nov. 27 speech Pearson gave Diefenbaker full credit for the latter's suggestion of Jan. 31. Pearson disclosed that the Liberal government had taken up the Diefenbaker suggestion with the governments of Israel, Britain, France and the U.S. and with the UN authorities.

"We were discouraged by the response," he reported. "We received no active support . . . they felt it was not timely to introduce a UN force of that character . . ."

* * *

On Nov. 1, 1956, the UN Assembly met in New York in emergency session over Suez, and Britain's Sir Pierson Dixon told the Assembly that Sir Anthony Eden had said in the British Commons the day before that a UN police force might be helpful.

John Foster Dulles seized on the idea and asked Pearson, the leader of the Canadian delegation, if Canada would put the idea before the Assembly in the form of a resolution. Pearson returned to Ottawa Nov. 2 to discuss this with the cabinet. The decision was affirmative, and at the UN on Nov. 3 Pearson put forward the resolution that fathered the UNEF.

Or as Transport Minister Hees puts it, "Then, adopting Mr. Diefenbaker's idea as his own, Mr. Pearson made his world-famous suggestion and was rewarded for it last autumn with the Nobel Peace Prize."

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

A NEW restaurant becomes popular partly because of good food, but also because it is a nice roomy place in which to eat. You are not jammed in, as in a bleachers. The next tables are a decent distance from yours. You are not afraid of knocking somebody else's plate off the table with your coat tails when you wriggle your way between the aisles. You do not have to concentrate in order to disentagle your table companion's conversation from that of the adjoining tables.

Food, yes. In new restaurants, the food is usually good. It is the space and comfort that are most attractive.

But as soon as its popularity is established, the new restaurant finds it has to add tables. They shove the existing tables a little closer together and install a whole new row along the back. Just about the time it becomes the most popular place in town, it has lost its chief charm.

The classic rule in business is: "Get it while the getting is good."

But the best restaurant I have ever been in, in London, England, had 42 tables when it opened and has 42 now, 20 years later. And it is so popular you have to be known to the proud old man who owns it before you can telephone to be sure of a table, a day ahead.

Ham-and-Egg Painters

(From The Toronto Telegram)

HARRY S. TRUMAN is an outspoken critic on many subjects. His views on U.S. politics and international affairs are vigorous and realistic. His musical tastes are simple and basic. None of the complicated cacophonies of Stravinsky attract him. He likes the outline of a melody to be clear and unmistakable.

Now Mr. Truman has blossomed out as an art critic. After viewing an exhibition of paintings by Sir Winston Churchill, which is soon to tour Canada, the U.S. elder statesman pronounced it "damn good." As with politics and music, Mr. Truman is no bashful wall flower. He doesn't hedge, but comes right out with a forceful judgment.

The occasion provided him with a forthright discourse on the state and progress of modern art: "At least you can tell what the pictures are (Sir Winston's, that is) and that's more than you can say for a lot of these modern painters. Ham-and-eggers I call them. They just throw an egg at the canvas and mix in a little ham."

There's no disputing tastes. Disciples of Picasso, cubism and surrealism will brand the ham-and-egg label as a leftover from Harry's experience in haberdashery. But he will win applause from lovers of Grandma Moses.

On the Record

So Much At Stake

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

SUEZ, Tunisia, Algeria, Egypt-Syria, Israel, Jordan—all are part of a single picture, and no crisis or event is isolated. Everything moves with predictable logic — involving, [illegible] States, painful decisions, but requiring decisions.

Woodrow Wilson pronounced the death sentence on colonialism in stating as an aim of the First World War: "self-determination of all nationalities." Of course, the allies then were thinking of "self-determination" within the empires of their enemies, the German, Austro-Hungarian, Ottoman—not the British, French, Italian, Russian, or the Japanese.

* * *

The principle of "self-determination" was applied to the Baltic states within the Russian Empire when the revolution broke out and Russia deserted to a separate peace. The Austro-Hungarian Empire, dissected into numerous small states lying between Russia and Germany, ceased to be a balancing force in Europe, and at the end of the Second World War the states were absorbed into the Russian orbit while retaining their titular "independence."

Germany's African colonies were lost in the First World War; Italy's in Africa and Japan's in Asia in the second.

* * *

But destroying the colonial empires of one's enemies mines the foundations of one's own.

If the Arabs of the Turkish Empire were brought to revolt against it on the promise of "self-determination," was it not logical, indeed inevitable, that they would revolt against its successors, Britain and France?

If Arab Libya, because it had been Italian, could become an independent state, was it not inevitable that all the rest of Arab North Africa and the Middle East would seek the same status? And that, at the opportune moment, they would seek it unitedly?

For the Arab world has learned a lesson. Small, independent states are helpless in a world of great powers. Freed from the domination of one, they fall booty to another; or great power rivalries exploit them against each other, or buy them into military alliances, or flatter them into a false security.

* * *

"Liberated" east Europe had but one chance to survive after the First World War, and that was to restore the Austro-Hungarian unity, extend it from the Baltic to the Adriatic and, as a unity of a hundred million people, rely upon themselves and negotiate as equals with their powerful neighbors, Germany and Russia.

Israel is a colonizing project, replacing an indigenous population by an alien one, created and supported by the Western powers, including the United States. It never could have been born had not Palestine—under the Turks an integral part of Syria—been first partitioned by Great Britain into two completely artificial complexes, "Jordan" under a subsidized monarch and British-generaled army, and "Palestine" under direct British rule in the form of a mandate. Nor could it have been created had the Arabs possessed the strength they have today.

It was the Jewish colonists, aided by World Zionism, who drove the British out of Palestine by precisely the type of warfare now being waged against the French in Algeria and against the British in Cyprus. Did the successful Jewish fighters against Great Britain teach no lesson to the Arabs? Among them an unknown Egyptian officer, named Gamal Abdel Nasser?

Everything hangs together. Every effect has a cause. The real revolutions in the world today are national risings initially sparked by anti-colonial America, whose arms in Jewish hands drove the British out of Palestine, whose guns were later used to attack Egypt in Sinai, whose planes in French hands are bombing Arab villages in Algeria, and now in Tunisia—and who nowhere is able to exercise any political control whatsoever, because the American government would not decide on any logical policy, based on foresight.

* * *

It is a terrible moment for the West. For a great deal more is at stake in France than the loss of Algeria. What is at stake is the French republic itself. But that is another story.

With the Classics

Glory be to God for dappled things—
For skies of couple-color as a brinded cow;
For rose-moles all in stipple upon trout that swim;
Fresh-firecoal chestnut-falls; finches' wings;
Landscape plotted and pieced,—fold, fallow, and plough;
And all trades, their gear and tackle and trim.

—GERARD MANLEY HOPKINS.

Letters to the Editor

Absurd Plan

Re Christie Point, I quite agree with Reeve Wurtele of Esquimalt that it should be left in the wild and natural state.

It is altogether absurd to allow septic tanks in such an area, when homes all around the Inlet and Gorge have paid, or are paying, for sewerage to prevent the pollution of that beautiful waterway.

The Spit in question is nearly all clay and rock, and the outflow from septic tanks can only find its way to the Inlet.

On the Wrong Foot

No one will disagree with your contention that the award of the Nobel Peace Prize to Mr. Pearson should not be a campaign issue. Nothing should be farther removed from a political campaign.

But I respectfully submit that it is inaccurate to state that "the Conservatives have made Mr. Pearson's Nobel Peace Prize an issue in the election."

The shoe is entirely on the other foot! The Liberals have endeavored from the start to boom Mr. Pearson's leadership and the claims of the party for support on this very fact. Only today (Feb. 25) in advertising the Liberal rally, Victorians have been invited by loud speaker throughout the streets to hear "Canada's great statesman — the winner of the Nobel Prize," and I venture to belive that it will be part of their appeal until the end of the campaign.

Mr. Diefenbaker has never begrudged the award of the honor and was the first to congratulate Mr. Pearson publicly in the House of Commons.

If credit can be claimed by any individual for the proposal for the United Nations to provide a police force "at the height of the Suez crisis' then that credit must go to Sir Anthony Eden, who was prime minister of Great Britain at the time.

ROBERT D. HARVEY,
620 View Street, Victoria, B.C.

The Other Side

In rebuttal of statements made by Rob Gibbons, of Vancouver, in his letter you published in the Colonist of Feb. 25, as I was the recording secretary of that convention, these are the facts:

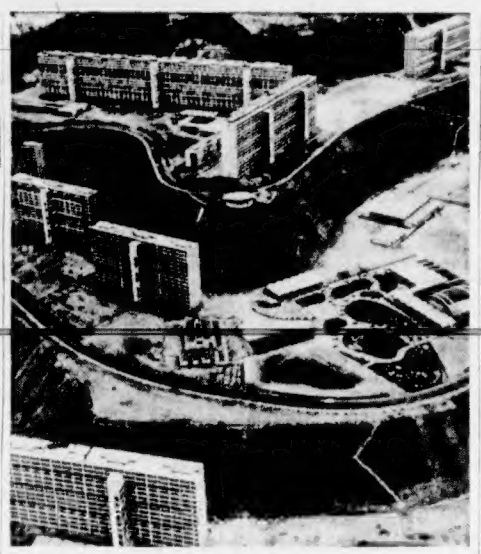

In the first place Mr. Gibbons mentioned the "B.C. Social Credit convention." That is erroneous. The event was the Social Credit regional conference, embracing British Columbia and Alberta.

You were correct in your account of Feb. 16, in that you stated "some 200-odd" delegates. Actually, there were 107 voting delegates by actual registration, and 127 visiting delegates, again by actual registration; and a few more delegates arrived on Saturday morning after the official count of delegates had been made and handed to the recording secretary, and checked for accuracy. I might state also that voting delegates were limited to two from each federal riding, with no limit to the number of visiting delegates.

Refuting also Mr. Gibbon's statement that "they were the most pessimistic delegates I have ever seen at a convention of any party in over 45 years," it was a most successful and enthusiastic conference, which any of the 234 registered delegates will affirm.

Mr. Gibbons in his letter called for support of the people for every Conservative candidate. Ridiculous! The prime minister called for dissolution of Parliament when there was no need for an election. The fact is, the opposition gave the government a big enough majority on every vote that was called on all its measures. The people expected the Conservatives to stay at the helm until the ship of state had been safely steered through the rocks and shoals of unemployment and business stagnation. However, it will be clear to the people that the Conservative government deserted the ship.

Caracas Clears Slums

Looking more like an architect's model than reality, this gargantuan housing development will provide backdrop for the World's Fair planned for Caracas, Venezuela, in 1960. More than 8,000 slum shacks were razed to make way for 59 apartment buildings, at a cost of $90,000,000. Oil revenues provided the money. Buildings are a riot of colors—red, blue, black and yellow.—(CPC)

Lightning Damages TCA Viscount Plane

MONTREAL (CP)—A Trans-Canada Air Lines Viscount aircraft with 22 passengers aboard was slightly damaged by lightning Tuesday on a flight between Boston and Yarmouth, N.S., the company said yesterday. It returned safely to Boston.

A TCA spokesman said here yesterday the plane was never in any actual danger, although the passengers were frightened when the craft ran into bad weather. They were unaware of any damage until the plane landed.

"I've done a lot of flying and this was the worst flight I've ever been on," Mrs. Evelyn Goodwin of Tewsbury, Mass., was quoted as saying.

The lightning bolt burned out two of the Viscount's electrical discharge wicks on the wing tips and burned pinholes in the elevators. The damage, which the company termed minor, was repaired in Boston and the plane took off again, landing in Nova Scotia six hours behind schedule. It later flew to Montreal.

Sandys Defends Policy

Nuclear Arms or Defeat

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain said Wednesday the West must use nuclear weapons against a major Soviet aggression even if the Russians refrain from using them.

Defence Minister Duncan Sandys said the alternative is

"It is really no good mincing matters," he said. Some people had been shocked by his recent annual report on defence spelling out the policy of nuclear retaliation even if Russia used only conventional arms.

But without nuclear retaliation, Russia's superior conventional forces "are bound to be successful."

Sandys said that the more the "ugly choices" are studied the more it is realized that the only sensible way out is comprehensive disarmament.

George Brown, chief Labor party spokesman on defence, said Britain was shocked by Sandys' almost complete reliance on "the weapon of mass suicide."

Sandys said it was this way "that peace has been preserved during the last decade."

'Positive' Order

OTTAWA (CP)—Progressive Conservative party headquarters has advised candidates to avoid personalities and stick to "positive" issues in the general election campaign, national director Allister Grosart said yesterday.

Canada Recognizing New Arab Nation

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada has decided to extend formal recognition to the new United Arab Republic of Egypt and Syria, an external affairs department spokesman said Tuesday.

Reds Beset at Home, Says Dulles

'Cold War End in Sight'

JOHN FOSTER DULLES
. . . island in Red Sea

WASHINGTON (UP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, asserting that Soviet leaders were beset with troubles at home, said yesterday he could foresee an end to the cold war "if they don't gain spectacular victories abroad."

He told the house foreign affairs committee the United States and its free world allies must see to it that the Kremlin rulers do not win the necessary diplomatic victories to retain their iron grip on the Russian people.

Dulles was the opening witness as the committee began hearings on President Eisenhower's request for $3,868,000,000 for the foreign military and economic aid programs in the new fiscal year.

He told the committee this country could become a "beleaguered island in a red sea" if it failed to support free nations against communist encroachment.

Dulles echoed many of the arguments advanced by Eisenhower, former president Truman, and Republican and Democratic leaders at the giant, one-day bipartisan rally yesterday on behalf of the foreign aid program.

Meanwhile, the President told his news conference he expected Republican congressmen to do as well as Democrats in backing his bill. He made the comment when asked about Truman's challenge to the GOP to get behind the president's proposal.

But the president's proposal faced heavy sledding in Congress, with some Democratic almost one billion dollars.

'Out by Summer'

Two young men were given lighter-than-intended sentences in city police court "in order," said Magistrate Henry C. Hall, "that you may get out in the summer months and get work."

Douglas E. Carlson, 717 Pandora, and Leon Notte, 290 Burnside East, had pleaded guilty Monday to false pretence charges. They had tried to obtain money through refunds by means of sales slips at a city department store.

"I had intended to sentence you to six months," said the magistrate. "However, in order that you may get out during the summer months and get work, you will be sentenced to four months each."

Notte, who pleaded guilty Tuesday to possession of a stolen book, was given another four-month sentence, concurrent with the first.

William Rimmer, 827 North Park, and Leonard Robert Rivard, Work Point, were fined $50 each when they pleaded guilty to having liquor in a restaurant.

In a brief session of Saanich police court yesterday Joseph N. Frank, 44 Camden, pleaded guilty to impaired driving. He was fined $250 and his driver's licence was suspended.

Leslie T. Painter, RCN, was fined $250 and had his licence suspended, when he pleaded guilty to impaired driving in city court Tuesday.

Big Weekend Regatta Here

60 Boats to Race

Cadboro Bay will be crammed with multi-colored sailboats this weekend when Royal Victoria Yacht Club acts as host to the biggest "frostbite" regatta since inter-city competition began eight years ago.

Appropriately marking centennial year, it will be Victoria's first international senior frostbite meeting, and will also mark the first appearance in inter-city competition of the new two-man Penguin-class boats.

60 BOATS, 100 SAILORS

More than 60 boats and about 100 sailors, in three divisions, from Vancouver, West Vancouver, Seattle, Maple Bay and Victoria will take part in a series of team races Saturday afternoon and individual races Sunday. The fleet will consist of 36 Davidson-class dinghies, 12 to 14 Penguins and eight navy service dinghies.

Six "mother ships," including the 95-foot yacht Westward and a navy personnel carrier, will bring the visiting sailors and their boats to Cadboro Bay.

EARLY SUNDAY

Racing Saturday will begin at 12.30 p.m., and on Sunday at 10 a.m., culminating early Sunday afternoon in the annual race in Davidson dinghies for commodores and past commodores.

Two weeks later Royal Victoria Yacht Club's Davidson frostbite team will travel to Vancouver aboard Capt. W. G. Tellier's schooner Black Dog for the return half of the annual home-and-home engagement and the wind-up of the 1957-58 frostbite season, which began in mid-November.

'Bird' Buries Nose

Buried nose-deep in the California desert is this U.S. Air Force ramjet guided missile which has flown faster and higher than any air-breathing flight vehicle. It is used to test engines with advanced defence weapons. Waffle-like marks on the missile are the action of heat-friction at tremendous speed attained. Parachute and nose cone break the missile's fall, permitting it to be used again.

PTA Group Will Hear Sooke Case

In reply to a letter from Langford PTA supporting Sooke district school teachers in their wage demands, Sooke school board Tuesday night decided to draft reply outlining their position during negotiations, and comparing 1957 ad 1958 wage schedules.

The letter is to be prepared by Trustee John S. Williams, chairman of the teachers' salary committee, and Leslie Wheeldon, board secretary.

The district was "blacklisted" by the B.C. Teachers' Federation after negotiations broke down and the board applied a 6.8 per cent increase to teachers' cheques.

OTTAWA (BUP) — An Eskimo child who spent more than 30 hours buried in the snow after being abandoned in 30 below zero weather is recovering from exposure, RCMP report. The mother, fleeing the scene of a stabbing, buried two of her children, thinking them dead. The second was dead when found.

Oils, Steels Lead Rally At New York

NEW YORK (UP) — Steels, oils and aircrafts led stocks higher in their best advance in more than a week.

The market responded to President Eisenhower's prediction that business will turn up by mid-year. He said a tax cut is being held in abeyance pending a mid-year upturn.

Youngstown Sheet & Tube spurted 3 points to pace the steels. Amerada jumped 2 in the oils and Boeing more than 2 in the aircrafts.

All major groups showed strength as the buying spilled over into specialties. Eastman Kodak jumped around 3 in the chemicals and Mesta Machine added almost 2 in its group.

Rails turned stronger late in the day, with Texas Pacific up 4½ near the close. Most of the leaders in this group added fractions to around a point. Phelps Dodge added around a point in the non-ferrous metals.

Among the oils, Shell and Skelly added around a point each. Bath Iron Works rose around a point in the shipbuilding group.

American Shipbuilding paced the downside, losing more than 1 around the close. Tobacco and sugar stocks were strong.

Golds Race Ahead

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market scored its best gain in eight sessions as golds, industrials and western oils took turns at leading the other sections to higher ground.

It was the gold section which showed the way for most of the session but in the last few minutes profit-taking hit.

Royal Bank had the biggest loss on the board, down 4¾ points to 59¼, and it was one of the five most-active industrials with a volume of 2,025 shares.

Meanwhile, golds raced ahead for most of the session as they added to Tuesday's strong advance.

Metals Stronger

MONTREAL (CP) — Trading was moderate and prices mixed. Base metals were mostly firm with Aluminum up ⅜ at 27 and International Nickel stronger by 1¼.

Utilities and banks were down. Calgary Power, 68½, dropped ½. Constructions and newsprints were mixed.

Western oils were somewhat firmer in a fractional range. Canadian Oil was up ¼ at 26 and Pacific Pete was up ⅛ at 17½. Mines and refining oils were steady under moderate trading. Canadian Atlantic Oil was up 20 cents at 3.95.

Oils Recover

VANCOUVER — Golds were strong and coppers weak in a busier market.

Bralorne advanced to $5.75 before closing at $5.60, while Caribou was also higher at 67 cents.

Granduc was down to 94 cents in coppers while Bethlehem weakened to 65 cents. Trojan was up slightly at 18 cents.

Oils rallied from Tuesday's lows with Fort St. John up 50 cents at $3.25. Pacific was higher at $17½.

Except for B.C. Telephone which was strong at $43½ most industrials tended easier.

Alcan Has 300,000 Horsepower in Reserve

Power Going Begging

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

They have been talking so long about the "power-hungry" northwest that it is difficult to believe that right on tidewater there is at present enough power going begging to run half a dozen mills.

The electric power is available at Kitimat, where this week Alcan announced that its Kemano powerhouse now had a potential capacity of 1,050,000 horsepower.

This was brought about by the completion of the seventh generator, each of which has a capacity of 150,000 horsepower.

As things are at Kitimat, the demand for electricity—both in the refinery and the city itself—is certainly not more than 750,000 horsepower.

About 300,000 horsepower is lying in reserve, and although it is doubtful if Alcan would like to commit the whole of this amount, the company's policy always has been to encourage other companies to settle down in Kitimat with reasonably priced power as an inducement.

Even if the amount regarded by Alcan as immediately available was only 170,000 horsepower, it would be equal to that used by the Vancouver Island pulp and paper mills at Campbell River, Alberni and Nanaimo combined.

The excess power available at Kitimat is at the moment accentuated by the seven per cent reduction in aluminum output, but even so the reserve is sufficient to be of extreme interest to any industry that requires a large block of power.

One such potential user, which so far has not materialized, is the Kitimat Pulp and Paper mill, a project under consideration by Powell River Company and Aluminum Company of Canada. It presently is mothballed.

In view of the possible shortage of electrical power in the B.C. coastal area in the next year or two, it appears that Kitimat on any upturn of business could find its reserves to be "an ace in the hole."

UBC Professor To Lead Tour

PROF. ALEC WAINMAN

VANCOUVER (CP)—A University of British Columbia professor has been chosen to lead Canadian students on a tour of Russia and other Communist countries this summer.

He is Prof. Alec Wainman of the department of Slavonic studies who speaks fluent Russian and once served with the British embassy in Moscow.

The 44-day tour, which starts June 14, and is considered a forerunner to eventual student exchanges between Canada and Russia, will be sponsored by the National Federation of Canadian University Students.

The NFCUS said it hoped 24 to 46 students would be able to make the trip through Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia and the Ukraine.

Emphasis will be placed on meeting Soviet students and understanding their educational system.

NFCUS also said the trip had the approval of the department of external affairs.

It will cost each student $975.

'False Federation'

DAMASCUS (UP) — President Gamal Abdel Nasser, head of the new Egyptian-Syrian state yesterday attacked the rival union of Jordan and Iraq as a "false federation." He told a crowd of Syrians it was "just ashes which the wind will blow away."

Plutonium-Taming Job Starts

CHICAGO (UP)—The atomic energy commission yesterday gave the go-ahead for a $10,000,000 project to turn the man-made element plutonium, basic ingredient of hydrogen and atomic bombs, into a powerful source of peace time power.

Scientists at the Argonne National Laboratory near Chicago will attempt to tame the intensely radioactive and chemically toxic element into a relatively cheap fuel for nuclear power reactors.

If they are successful, the scientists will free peacetime atomic power projects from reliance upon the scarce and highly expensive Uranium-235.

Such an achievement, experts said, could have far-reaching effects on the West's current dependence on Mideast oil and on European nations' pressing need for United States supplies of Uranium-235.

The AEC set the vital research project in motion by authorizing Argonne to build a fuels technology centre at its site near suburban Lemont, Ill.

Most of the $10,000,000 cost of the centre will go towards protecting the scientists from the deadly alpha rays and poisonous qualities of plutonium. The greyish-white element is so powerful that all persons dealing with it must wear specially-prepared clothing and undergo continuous urine analyses, blood counts, chest radiographs and medical examinations.

Similar research projects are already under way in Britain, France, Belgium, Italy, West Germany, and, presumably, Russia. However, an Argonne spokesman said the new American campaign to tame plutonium for peacetime purposes will be the largest of its kind now in progress.

Can the Electrical Workers Justify Strike Action?

They are already paid higher wages than comparable tradesmen in any other province in Canada.

They are already paid substantially more than skilled trades in other industries in this area. They have been offered wage increases of up to 19 per cent.

THEY HAVE DEMANDED WAGE INCREASES OF UP TO 40 PER CENT

We regret that the electrical workers employed by B.C. Electric and the line contractors who do essential work for the company have served a strike notice rather than accept a generous wage settlement offered to them.

By using supervisory staff to operate the system, B.C. Electric will do its utmost to provide electric service if the strike is called.

After you have read the following facts we feel sure you will agree with the company that there is no justification for a strike.

1. Since June 27 of last year negotiations have continued between the company and the union, trying to reach a basis for the writing of a new agreement.

2. The union demanded wage increases of up to 40 per cent, plus a number of costly changes in working conditions.

3. A three-man conciliation board appointed under provisions of the Labor Relations Act of British Columbia included a chairman, a representative of the company and a representative of the union. This board unanimously recommended increases of up to 19 per cent, the major part of which would be retroactive, the balance effective in August.

4. The most recent increases awarded to other industries have been substantially lower. After an 84-day strike, the Pulp and Paper Workers settled for a 9½ per cent increase. The Oil and Chemical Workers settled for an 11-cent to 22-cent increase. Workers in the fishing industry settled for a 17-cent to 20-cent increase.

5. The company felt that the conciliation board award was extremely generous to the union. However, because the board was unanimous and in the interests of preserving good relations with our employees and preventing inconvenience to customers the company accepted the board's recommendations.

6. The union rejected the board's award, subsequently passed a strike vote and on Monday afternoon advised the company that they intend to go on strike any time after 48 hours. This in spite of repeated efforts by the company to continue negotiations to effect a peaceful settlement.

7. In the interests of users of electric service, the company decided it should not go beyond the recommendations of the conciliation board, because the board's recommendations, if implemented, would increase operating costs by $600,000 per year, and construction costs by an additional $700,000 per year at the present level of activity.

The company has every intention of protecting your interest by refusing to meet exorbitant demands. We will put forward every effort to continue normal electric service. We sincerely hope you will support us.

Land for Big Project Property of Crown

CAMPBELL RIVER—Provincial Secretary Wesley Black has told Campbell River council that the provincial government owns the land on which a $2,000,000 waterfront development project is proposed.

"I fail to see where we are interfering with the internal affairs of the municipality because the land is not owned by the village ... the shareholders or owners of the property and not the taxpayers," Mr. Black argued.

Port Alberni RCMP Probe Two Thefts

PORT ALBERNI—RCMP are investigating two incidents of breaking and entering with theft which occurred in the city within the past 48 hours.

The Elks Club lost over $200 when a pane of glass was broken to gain entry to the premises. The theft was discovered at noon Tuesday.

A cash register containing some $40 was stolen from Gerald's Contracting premises on Kingsway North overnight Tuesday. Entrance was apparently gained by jimmying a door.

Boy, 14, Sentenced To Two Years in Jail

NANAIMO—Nine offences to which he pleaded guilty drew a maximum Oakalla term for a 14-year-old boy here yesterday.

The boy was given two years less a day on one charge of breaking and entering and theft, six of car theft, one of theft of clothing and a brief case, and one of escaping custody. The offences took place between Feb. 10 and 16 in the Nanaimo area. Police said the youth had also attempted to steal a boat.

Bunk To Tripe

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan told the House yesterday that the legislature had heard 54 hours and 37 minutes of "utter bunk" from the government ranks during the budget debate. The opposition, he said, had spoken for 19 hours and 43 minutes.

Premier Bennett demanded a withdrawal.

"I withdraw," said Mr. Strachan, "but I would reserve the right to find a more appropriate word." Later he chose the word, "tripe."

Arena Bids On Hand

Two tenders, both from Vancouver firms and both "roughly around $36,000" were received yesterday for a plastic-pipe floor refrigeration system for Memorial Arena.

The Memorial Arena commission opened the bids and referred them for study to its building committee, city engineer James Garnett and ex-alderman Frank Mulliner.

Cheapest entertainment in Victoria will be offered tomorrow night and Saturday morning in the boys' department of the YMCA, Blanshard Street—a penny circus.

For one thin penny visitors will be able to bounce on a trampoline, shoot arrows or rifles at targets, throw baseballs and darts, and fish for prizes.

Tomorrow's session runs from 7 to 9 p.m. and Saturday the circus will be open from 10 a.m. to noon.

Antiques Donated

Mrs. Frank Ross, wife of the lieutenant-governor, has donated 111 pieces of antique furniture valued at "thousands of dollars" for the new Government House, Premier Bennett announced yesterday.

The selection, he said, was found in four well-known old homes in Scotland and the largest item was an oak dining room table with 16 matching chairs, sideboards and chests.

Bennett Weeps as Gaglardi Orates

By PETER BRUTON

Here are some of his more quotable quotes.

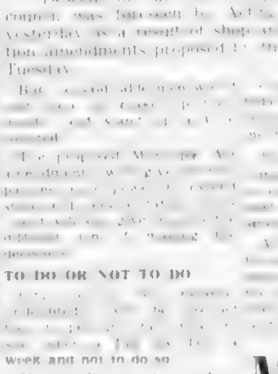

On a CCF charge …

On Sunday school: "We've heard a lot about saving Borstal. How about saving boys and girls before they get into Borstal? That today is the greatest need in the nation: more Sunday schools."

On the dignitaries who attended the opening of his $… church: "God bless these men; we need more like them."

On his speeding conviction in the province of B.C.: "How many here can stand up and say 'I have never speeded'? They just haven't been caught and I was."

It wasn't what Mr. Gaglardi said, it was the way he said it.

Blind To Get Park

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—A park for use only by the blind will be opened in Vienna this spring.

City gardeners are at work on an area of about 65,000 square feet which will include a playground for blind children as well as a restaurant.

There will be no steps and visitors may find their way either by guide ropes or by the smell of particular flowers. Varying sorts of gravel used on the foot paths are also to guide the blind, in addition to signs bearing the inscriptions in Braille.

The city expects to spend 1,500,000 schillings (about $600,000) on the project.

Main Chance

Elizabeth Arden's Main Chance resort, where privacy is as important as the beauty and health treatments, houses from time to time some of America's more famed and wealthy women.

Prices are steep—about $100 to $700 a week.

Treatments are described as "the regime of rest, diet and beauty which takes tension lines of faces and extra avoirdupois from weary figures."

Typical day for a guest might be breakfast — and meals are prepared to individual order as prescribed by the diet—followed by an hour's swim, an hour's exercise, and a steam bath. In the afternoon comes the sun bath, followed by an hour with the hairdresser, and then the luxurious pampering of a pedicure, manicure, facial.

Guests live in sumptuously furnished "cottages" —some of them having nine rooms.

Suzanne Carries Nosegay

PARIS (WNS)—For 10 years Suzanne Thierry sold other people's perfume to customers coming to her shop before deciding to get smart and sell her own—now a raging success with French women.

How did she do it? "I carried the smell of my perfume in my nose for at least a year before I actually began to blend it with the help of a chemist," she recalled. "All the while, I was making subtle changes in it. Sometimes I was not even aware of these changes myself. But the final result was exactly what I was seeking."

North American girls have been left at the starting gate in the science sweepstakes.

In Russia up to 30 per cent of the graduating engineers are women, while in the United States, for example, the figure is less than one per cent, says Mrs. Sparling, a housewife, mother and metallurgist at the [illegible] plant here.

She blames it on public opinion, old-fashioned educational policies and the fact that it is harder for a girl to work her way through college. Another factor, says Mrs. Sparling, is the lack of information [illegible]

Potatoes Not Fattening If You Don't Overdo It

By FRANCES THOMPSON

Did you read an article in the Colonist a couple of days ago in which a doctor in Geneva stated the effects of various vegetables [illegible] potatoes calm the nerves. If this be true let's spotlight the lowly potato this morning.

First may I remind you [illegible] again that contrary to popular opinion potatoes are not fattening if eaten in moderation that is [illegible] a nutritional fact that [illegible] medium sized potato contains fewer calories than a [illegible] bar, a serving of apple [illegible] slice of un-iced cake.

VITAMIN C

Still more important potatoes are a reasonably good source of vitamin C.

They also contain that very necessary mineral iron—so essential for good health.

But always remember the preparation of potatoes is most important in order to retain food value. [illegible]

[illegible] of serving them.

STUFFED POTATOES

[illegible]

Stuff shells with potato [illegible]

... layers in greased casserole. Top with crumbs and dot with [illegible] butter. Bake in moderately hot [illegible] and replace in oven for few minutes to reheat.

SCALLOPED POTATOES WITH VEGETABLES

Three tablespoons butter or margarine; 3 tablespoons flour, 1 cup vegetable liquid; ½ cup milk; 1 teaspoon prepared mustard; 1 tablespoon chopped onion, ½ cup (or more) grated Canadian cheese; 1 cup cooked carrots; 1 cup cooked peas 2 to 3 potatoes, thinly peeled and sliced.

Melt butter, stir in flour, add liquids gradually, stir and cook till thickened.

[illegible] potatoes are tender, about [illegible] minutes.

CURATE'S PUDDING

Serves 4

[illegible] cheese.

Beat mashed potatoes [illegible] smooth. Add milk, season [illegible] batter and slightly beaten [illegible]

Beat egg whites until stiff and fold them into potato mix [illegible] rind. Place in greased casserole and sprinkle with cheese. Bake in moderate oven about 20 minutes. Serve with roasts as a change from Yorkshire pudding.

OLD-FASHIONED POTATO SOUP

4 good servings

[illegible] spoon butter, ½ cup flour, 1 egg well beaten; ⅛ cup milk, chopped parsley.

[illegible] add egg and mix.

Drop this mixture by teaspoonful into hot soup. Cover saucepan and cook about 10 minutes. Sprinkle with chopped parsley.

TV TALK

By Bruce Lowther

Kraft has made a major change in its Wednesday evening drama series, the most consistent of the all-too few drama shows on TV.

The sponsor has fired the present producing company as of the end of March and has hired in its place David Susskind's Talent Associates, the firm that did Prince and the Pauper and Bridge of San Luis Rey" for DuPont. Susskind must get ratings by September or the show will be cancelled. his first effort will be three one-act plays written and emceed by Tennessee Williams.

* * *

Self styled censors are at it again, this time in San Antonio, Texas, where KENS-TV has cancelled plans to show the old Jane Russell movie "French Line" because of complaints from the Roman Catholic Legion of Decency. It had the same trouble as a movie but when finally released "French Line" got the proper censorship from the public—it lost a potful.

"All I've been able to do is to make the distortion easier to see."

NBC censor Stockton Helffrich, recently ordered to watch Jack Parr's show, hasn't changed it at all. It is, he says, "honest, diverting, adult and generally delightful," so why touch it? Amen.

TV BITS: Today's more interesting shows include a Climax biography of killer Albert Anastasia, Tab Hunter as a murderer on Playhouse 90 and a CBC adaptation of a Russian comedy on Folio . . . Bob Hope, Rosalind Russell, David Niven and James Stewart will emcee the Oscars telecast on NBC March 26 . . . Niven has announced plans for an adventure series to be written by Eric Ambler . . . TV series called Tarzan and Sabotage are in the offing . . . The movie of "The Last Hurrah," about a long-time mayor of Boston, will be like old times. Cast includes Spencer Tracy, Pat O'Brien, Donald Crisp and Frank McHugh.

Variety says Liberace has grossed $30,000,000 for his stations and himself during the five years his 113 shows have been going around. Once on 221 stations, Liberace still is seen on as many as 150 outlets . . . In Vancouver, the Odeon-Hastings theatre, originally the Pantages vaudeville house and later the Beacon, reopens next month as the Majestic and will run four-a-day vaudeville shows at a 60-cent top.

Today's Highlights

6.10 Save the Children Fund talk (channel 12).

8.30 Jack Benny's 40th-birthday show was to be seen but CBC now has scheduled a Climax play, probably "Secret Love of Johnny Spain," with Terry Moore (channel 2), Don Ameche and Eli Wallach in "Albert Anastasia" on Climax (channels 7 and 12).

Rita Del Mar's Daily Astrology

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1958

Today's quotation: "Common sense, in an uncommon degree, is what the world calls wisdom."—Coleridge.

Thursday for everyone: Be conscientious, dutiful toward present obligations and responsibilities, but don't take on anything new of importance for the time being. Rather devote the day to completing what is started.

Look for your birthdate and birthsign below:

March 21 to April 19 (Aries)—Scrutinize reports, tidings; dismiss idle talk; direct vitality, skill progressively.

April 20 to May 20 (Taurus)—Address superiors as little as possible; they may be moody. Guard finances.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini)—Go over your facts before making arrangements, decisions; entrench credit, status.

June 21 to July 22 (Cancer)—Employ mental agility to hold your own; reject counsel or sales talks; examine decisions.

July 23 to Aug. 22 (Leo)—Use sagacity in commercial transactions, signing, extending promises; be ingenious.

Aug. 23 to Sept. 22 (Virgo)—Summon up your own resources; shun anxiety, diversion. Retain favor of higher-ups.

Sept. 23 to Oct. 22 (Libra)—Be on guard against pitfalls, especially regarding documents, judgment, details. Lick difficulties.

Oct. 23 to Nov. 21 (Scorpio)—Use presence of mind; heed pecuniary interests; don't pamper self. Employ versatility.

Nov. 22 to Dec. 21 (Sagittarius)—Concentrate on job at hand; keep peace in household, surroundings; save.

Dec. 22 to Jan. 19 (Capricorn)—Moods clash with logic; do some reconsidering about rumors, details, job, documents.

Jan. 20 to Feb. 18 (Aquarius)—Adhere to the realities if you wish to score an advance; guard your monetary position.

Feb. 19 to March 20 (Pisces)—Employ your wit in dealing with difficult situations or people; make good use of ideas.

Planning ahead—Good for entertaining, sociability, etc.: Feb. 28; March 3, 6, 9, 12, 13, 16.

Waterfront
SPRING IN VICTORIA
We come from all parts of the frozen north of our own country, from the frantic urgency of the States, from the rest of the tortured world to enjoy the quietness, peace and security of this sheltered isle. But we like to know it is an island, and we like to see the sea. Many of us not only want to see it occasionally, but to be able to look long at it, calm or storm, late or early.

THIS ALL ADDS UP!
It has already added up in double, triple and even quadruple prices for waterfront property, because the demand is high and is growing. We have collected a number of listings of choice waterfront properties — choice houses and choice lots, and we have many enquiries about them. If you are interested in waterfront, please contact

Cemetery Credit Letter Attacked

'They Would Go Broke'

Victoria Labor Council letter to Saanich council suggesting that Royal Oak Burial Park by-laws should be changed to allow credit drew a spirited attack Monday from Coun. George Austin.

Coun. Austin was Saanich representative on the burial park's board of management until he resigned recently.

"The cemetery board has already told the labor council they do not see fit to change the bylaw," he told council. "There is $4,000 to $5,000 credit on the books today."

Credit was available if a solicitor was handling the estate, he added.

"To give credit holus bolus to everyone would end up like Vancouver $85,000 in the hole on that alone," he continued. "Victoria city council endorses the way business is being done at the burial park."

Council decided to forward the letter to the Royal Oak board.

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS
—by Byrne Hope Sanders

MONTREAL, Feb. 27th—Need an extra room in your house? You've probably got 90% of it built already! What I mean is, it's right under your feet, or over your head . . . ready to be fixed up. Whether you plan to build yours in the basement or the attic, now's the best time to start work while winter is here and tradesmen are not tied up on outside construction. If you're short of ready cash for your project, talk to your BANK OF MONTREAL manager about a Home Improvement Loan, available at 6% interest per year, and repayable in easy installments. By starting now you can get first-class craftsmen who will be out of reach at the first sign of Spring.

DINNER'S READY! Vegetables are piping hot—with a slice of sunny-sweet BLUE BONNET melting goodness into them. Baked potatoes—hot biscuits—a lemon pie—or freshly-made cake. Mother flushed with final preparations — Dad and the youngsters hungry—and eager for the meal. It's good to be a home-maker, today, and it's good to have the fine quality of Blue Bonnet for all your cooking and baking, as well as for a table spread. Blue Bonnet is now and always has been an all-vegetable margarine—with essential minerals and vitamins added—quality controlled. Let Blue Bonnet help you to be a good cook!

GOOD HEALTH DOESN'T JUST "HAPPEN". It comes through the protective qualities of the right diet—for dogs, as well as for people. Give your pet the best diet you can with BR. BALLARD'S CHAMPION DOG FOOD. It's enjoyable—your dog will eat with relish. It's scientifically balanced—providing a dog with all the known nutrients he needs for body building and energy. There are three flavors to vary the diet even more—Chicken, Liver and Regular. Protect your precious dog against diet deficiency with Dr. Ballard's. . . . See how happy and healthy he'll be—and what a good coat he'll have!

I'M A REAL FAN for anything I can use in a lot of different ways . . . specially when it makes my cookery taste better! That's why I depend so much on BAKER'S CHOCOLATE CHIPS—those unusually delicious, deeply-rich bits of chocolate goodness. Baker's Chocolate Chips do magic things to cookies, cakes, desserts, and frostings—and do them more flavorfully than any other chocolate chips I know. Their unfailingly crunchy, fresh quality is perfectly preserved by the new package, too. Chocolate Chips with the famous Baker's name have a wonderful 3-ply wrap of sturdy foil-covered paper, lined with air-tight plastic, which keeps the chips as fresh as the day they were made.
